

GOVERNOR ARNOLD SCHWARZENEGGER

PROCLAMATION

California's economic future is enhanced by the quality of our environment. Clean air and water result in a healthier workforce and a more productive economy.

Pollution prevention helps protect California's mountains, deserts, valleys, coastlines and vital ecosystems for future generations. It improves the way California does business by increasing production, fostering efficiency, protecting workers' health and safe-guarding the diverse communities of our state.

In 1993, California initiated Pollution Prevention Week as an opportunity for government to team with industry, environmental groups and the citizenry to work toward cleaner air, land and water and a more competitive business environment.

This year we join citizens and businesses across California to celebrate our majestic landscape and renew our commitment to preserving the Golden State for future generations.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, ARNOLD SCHWARZENEGGER, Governor of the State of California, do hereby proclaim September 20-26, 2004, as "Pollution Prevention Week."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have here unto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 14th day of September 2004.
